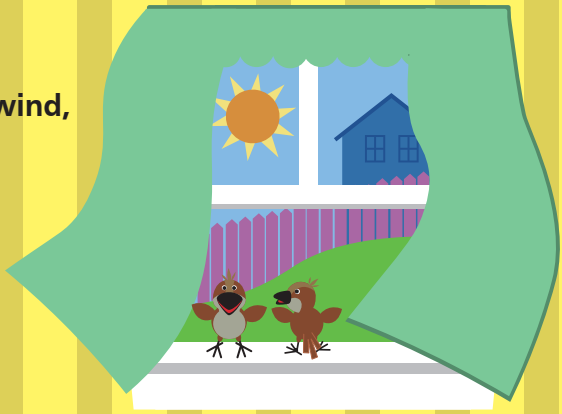
Violet's House

Come into Violet's living room
And see her big round chair!

The curtains blown in summer wind,
Are smooth like Violet's hair.

The yarn on Violet's sweater
Is a bright and woolly red—

It's wavy soft and curly,
Like the fur on Doggy's head.



See Violet's kitchen where flowers bloom
In Violet's plastic cup
An orange feels rough, but the juice inside
Fills Violet's tummy up!
When Violet helps her mommy wash,
She wets the squishy sponge.
She wipes crumbs off the toaster
So it's clean when toast is done.

Bear in Violet's playroom
Is worn soft from so much love.

A dress-up box holds necklaces,
Play shoes, a hat, and gloves.

Though Violet's sticky finger paints
Can sometimes make a mess,

She wears an apron when she paints,
To save her pretty dress.

In Violet's bathroom, tiles gleam white,
A pink rug warms the floor.

A towel hangs from a rubber hook
Upon the bathroom door.

A rubber ducky waits inside
A bathtub smooth and clean.

The paste on Violet's toothbrush
Is minty, fresh, and green.

When Violet's in her jammies
And she's ready for her bed,

She curls under her warm, soft quilt,
A pillow for her head.

On a beanbag in the corner,
Dolly smiles all through the night

As Violet's dreaming happy dreams
Until the morning light.

baby einstein®

At The Baby Einstein Company, we know that babies are passionately curious. They are fascinated by the sights and sounds around them, and every moment of every day is an opportunity for discovery. Created by a mom and designed specifically for babies and toddlers, our products provide fun and stimulating ways for parents and caregivers to interact with their children.

Information and ideas for parents:

Help increase your child's vocabulary by asking him or her to name the objects and to use descriptive words to talk about them.

At an older age, when reading the 'Violet's House' chapter, try to pause the track so your child can follow the story and read along. That way, they can start recognizing words and understanding how they're used.
